Permanent Link to New LTE tracker platform connects and locates objects 2021/05/25

LTE chipmaker Sequans Communications S.A. and semiconductor company STMicroelectronics have introduced CLOE, an LTE-connected tracker platform based on the integration of Sequans and ST technologies. An acronym of Connecting and Locating Objects Everywhere, CLOE combines the Internet-of-Things (IoT) technologies of two industry manufacturers into one comprehensive platform that simplifies the development of LTE-based IoT tracker devices for the full range of vertical markets, including logistics, consumer electronics and automotive. Specifically designed and optimized for OEMs and ODMs to add IoT tracking capability to their product offerings, CLOE integrates Sequans' Monarch LTE Cat M1/NB1 chip and ST's Teseo III GNSS chip for communications and satellite-based tracking performance. "CLOE targets multiple vertical markets with best-in-class performance for all of the important tracking measures: battery life, location accuracy, reachability, mobility and reporting periodicity," said Antonio Radaelli, infotainment BU director at STMicroelectronics. "'Componentizing' ST's navigation technology and Sequans' LTE modem technology makes CLOE an ideal platform to build trackers of all types — anything a developer can think of." "The tight integration of ST's latest-generation Teseo chip with our Monarch LTE chip results in a power-optimized, cost-effective, all-in-one solution to speed new IoT tracker devices to market in a very short time," said Danny Kedar, vice president of Sequans' IoT business unit. "CLOE delivers ultra reliable LTE connectivity with ultra-low-power consumption, and high performance GNSS and accelerometer performance, including lowest time to first fix." CLOE Key Features Turnkey cellular tracker solution for OEMs and ODMs, anywhere in the world Chipset integrates PMU, LTE, GNSS, memories and MCU First-to-market, operator-certified LTE Cat M1/NB1 dual-category Covers all worldwide LTE bands with a single hardware design High GNSS accuracy and short time to first fix Support for autonomous or server-based Assisted GPS (AGPS) for optimal time to fix Designed to address multiple track & trace segments, including Logistics Consumer electronics Automotive Optimized for low power consumption and cost Modular design includes GNSS, cellular connectivity, MEMS; can be expanded to include other sensors, Bluetooth and/or Wi-Fi. CLOE is designed and optimized for production based on a full bill of materials (BOM) that includes LTE, GNSS, accelerometer, power supply, battery management, LED and button management. The modular design enables copy/paste and optimizes BOM cost. CLOE is easily customizable.
